- If NO period for reply is specified above, the maximum statutory period will apply and will expire SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- Failure to reply within the set or extended period for reply will, by statute, cause the application to become ABANDONED (35 U.S.C. § 133). Any reply received by the Office later than three months after the mailing date of this communication, even if timely filed, may reduce any earned patent term adjustment. See 37 CFR 1.704(b).

DETAILED ACTIONS

- Claims 1-24 are pending
- Claims 1-24 have been rejected

Response to Arguments

1. Applicant's arguments in regard to claims 1, 10, 15 and 16 see pages 2-3 filed on 5/1/2006 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.
2. The applicant on page 2 argue that nowhere in the patent does Locke et al mention or teach:

the use of "coding gain" or transmission power as a variable or a key in determining the maximum transmission rate. Locke et al. al. merely shows data rate as affected by the Reed-Solomon parity bytes required to meet the maximum-allowed corrected bit error rate by selection of codeword.

The Examiner notes that Locke teaches the iterative method of changing the coding gain as one of the parameters for optimal codeword selection in the disclosed algorithm in col. 5, lines (10-12):

The formula is Adjust max bytes for the coding gain due to trellis coding. It might also be possible to adjust the coding gain for this factor instead.

In addition, Locke teaches in the first preferred embodiments in col. 3, lines (9) through col. 26 the selection method of Reed-Solomon codeword configuration to maximize error-corrected data rate given the channel analysis parameters that comprises; BER, MSE, transmitters power, noise power and bit rate (constellation density) [emphasis added] and channel analysis essentially estimate p.

The Examiner notes that coding gain is an industry standard (Wicker, S.B. Error Control System for Digital Communication and Storage, 1995 by Prentice-Hall, page 11, lines (14-16) copy is provided) defined as the amount of improvement in BER is usually discussed in terms of the additional transmitted power that is required to obtain the same performance without coding. This difference in power is called coding gain.

3. the applicant on page 3 argue that:

Therefore the steps recited in the present claims are not met, namely:

(a) establish a relationship between said parameters and a coding gain.

(b) initializing said coding gain to a minimum predetermined value;

(c) determining, based on said relationship between said parameters and said coding gain, an intermediate set of parameters for providing a preferred result for said coding gain.

The Examiner refers the applicant to FIG. 3 and section [2], col. 3 through col. 26 in Locke

4. Applicant's arguments in regard to claims 20 and 21 see page 3 filed on 5/1/2006 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.

The Examiner maintains same the same rejection as per the office action filed on 10/31/2005.

Conclusion

5. THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
